Body Language

“He who does not understand a look will not understand a long explanation either.”

Ancient proverb
What is Body Language?

- Body language is the language transmitted by posture, clothes, gestures and facial expressions.
- It is the unspoken communication that goes on in every Face-to-Face encounter with another human being.
- It tells you their true feelings towards you and how well your words are being received.

Features of Body Language

- Tapping foot or holding something in hand and fiddling with it or having a key chain in finger and moving it around finger. All this indicates restlessness, disinterest and a desire to end the session.

Moving key-chain around one's finger is an indication of a desire to leave.
Remember ......

Anyone who gives you a handshake with two hands, when first meeting you, is likely to be insincere and overwhelming, or even deceitful.

✓ Tip: Exception is elderly people
Confusing Body Language

She may feel comfortable,
She may look cool.
Careful, you have a very negative signal,
even if she is smiling.

www.firstpersonality.com
The lowered steepling of the hands indicates listening, and can also be a negative confidence gesture.
Confusing Body Language

The scratch to the back of the neck indicates uncertainty.
Confusing Body Language

It can mean nervousness or deceit.
It can mean a desire to shut out the words they are hearing, or the words aren't 'going in'.
they've heard enough.

Confusing Body Language

Hot under the collar!
People touch their face 10 times more than normal when they feel uncomfortable. When you lie, you feel a tingling sensation around your face and neck, and feel you need to touch or relieve the area.
Class Exercise

Can you identify the body language from each of the following images displayed?
Ways to develop Positive Body Language

- Be Energetic!
- Display variety in your gestures
- Display Purpose
- No pacing, rocking, swaying
- Exercise and stay fit
- No body odour
- Respect personal space

Eyes (as you see them)

Eyes - upward to the right (their left)
Trying to recall memories

Eyes - upwards to the left (their right)
Creating visual images (we think in pictures)
“Face is the index of the mind”, and the eyes are 50% of it!

- Gazing towards blank while conversing is an indication of recollecting something.

- Shutting eyes frequently indicates disinterest or lack of keenness in the discussion and the subject matter. It is a sort of escapist reaction.

- Best is to practice looking above the eyes, near the forehead (above the nose) of the other person while speaking.

✓ TIP: Make eye contact for 3-4 seconds but don’t stare. Look long enough to identify the other person’s eye colour.
Correct Handshake

- Handshake is an integral part of one's personality
- Correct handshake can greatly improve first impression
- Practice a strong, well gripped and vertical handshake
- A well gripped and strong handshake creates a positive impression
- No wet hands, no limp hands
- Shake from the elbow, not shoulder
- Shake hands with women also

Ways to develop positive body language

Steepling Hands

This is frequently used in superior/subordinate interaction. It demonstrates confidence and a 'know-it-all' attitude.

There are 2 versions:

1) The raised steeple - when the person is talking, expressing their opinion

2) The lowered steeple - when the person is listening

www.firstpersonality.com
Palm Gripping

This is a confidence/superiority position. The person has their stomach, heart and throat regions exposed which is an unconscious act of fearlessness.

✔ TIP: If you are in stressful situation assuming this position can help calm you down and take control of the situation.
Ways to develop Positive Body Language

Mirroring Positions

• Two people talking, standing in the same pose
• This indicates that they are in agreement with each other, they like each other
• If you want to establish a rapport with someone, mirror their poses
• This will have the effect of relaxing them
• Give them a non-verbal indication that you are both thinking along the same lines
Negative Body Language to avoid

• Feet dragging - implies lethargy - unlikely to impress
• Head down - implies timidity, again not a positive impression
• Shoulders drooped - implies lethargy and weariness
• Weak handshake - implies meek and ineffectual personality
• Shifty eyes - implies nervousness
• Arms crossed on chest - implies a defensive stance
• Fidgeting - implies nervousness
• Hands in pockets - implies you have something to hide

✔ TIP: Respect personal space …don’t stand too close in meeting or elevators

Poor Handshake

‘WET FISH’ from a man this normally means a weak character, someone who is easily persuaded.
How to identify Liars?

- Covering the mouth with the hand
- Scratching the nose quite frequently
- Moving the hand to scratch or rub the ear
- Scratching the side of the neck with fingers
Conclusion

With the right information and a little practice, we can train ourselves to overcome most of our negative body language habits.
